

USE Vegetable Sicilian HALL'S HAIR RENEWER.

It is a medicinal preparation, and, at the same time, an elegant and cleanly toilet article. Its action upon the scalp is healthful. It nourishes the glands which support the hair, and causes thin, dry hair to become thick, soft, and vigorous. It restores the color of youth to locks which have become faded with age or disease; and relieves and cures itching, caused by humors of the scalp. Dr. George Gray, Niagara, N. Y., writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the wonderful effects produced by Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer, as observed by me in very many cases. It will certainly restore the hair to its original color. It changes the head of dandruff, and leaves the hair soft, glossy, and beautiful." F. T. Sandelin, 1010 Spruce st., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "After unavailing trying a number of preparations to prevent my hair from falling out, and realizing that it was fast becoming bald, I tried, as a last resort, Hall's Hair Renewer. I have used only four bottles of the Renewer, and am perfectly satisfied that it is the best preparation in the market for checking the falling out of hair, invigorating the hair roots, and promoting a new growth."

Happiness

results from that contentment which indicates perfect health of body and mind. You may possess it, if you will purify and invigorate your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. E. M. Howard, Newport, N. H., writes: "I suffered for years with Scrofulous humors. After using two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I great relief. It has entirely restored me to health." James French, Atchison, Kans., writes: "To all persons suffering from Liver complaint, I would strongly recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was afflicted with a disease of the liver for nearly two years, when a friend advised me to take this medicine. It gave prompt relief, and has cured me." Mrs. H. M. Kiddle, 41 Dwight st., Boston, Mass., writes: "For several years I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in my family. I never feel safe, even without it. As a liver medicine and general purifier of the blood, it has no equal." W. B. Allen, Wintercock, Va., writes: "My youngest child, two years of age, was taken with Bowel Complaint, which we could not cure. We tried many remedies, but he continued to grow worse, and finally became so reduced in flesh that we could only move him upon a pillow. It was suggested by one of the doctors that Scrofula might be the cause of the trouble. We procured a bottle of and commenced giving it to him. It surely worked wonders, for, in a short time, he was completely cured."

At Home

A HORRIBLE HOLOCAUST.

EIGHT PERSONS CREMATED IN A CHICAGO TENEMENT.

The Work of a Persistent and Dastardly Incendiary—Heroic Efforts of John Raleigh to Save his Family—Threatened Through Windows—List of the Terrible Roast.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Eight persons were smothered or burned to death in the frame houses at 731 and 733 South Canal street. The names of the dead are as follows: Michael Murphy, aged forty years, employed by the South Division Railway company.

Mrs. Michael Murphy, aged about thirty-five years.

Annie Murphy, nine years old.

Nellie Murphy, eleven years old.

Mrs. Mary Durkin, aged thirty years.

Patsy Lavin, aged four years, son of Mrs. Mary Durkin by a former marriage.

John Durkin, three weeks old.

William Hand, aged sixty-eight years, a butcher.

The fire broke out in the cellar of 731 Canal street. The flames shot upward and quickly burned through the floor, which is on level with the ground. Shooting upward the next floor was soon ablaze. The fire spread through the "basement," the "basement," and No. 731 was soon wrapped in the flames which enveloped the adjoining number. Both houses were filled with smoke before any of the occupants were aroused.

Many of the sleepers were doubtless smothered in their beds. It will probably never be known who awake and tried in vain to escape from the stifling smoke and scorching flames. The flames following rapidly after the smoke, burned the inanimate bodies till they were unrecognizable masses of black and charred bones and flesh.

The lower floor of 733 was occupied by John Raleigh, Jr. His wife was awakened by a sense of suffocation. She aroused her husband, who hastily donned a few articles of clothing. He threw up a window. The ragged pane was shattered by the force, singed his hair and mustache. Not hesitating a moment he caught his wife in his arms, and, with a terrible effort, threw her bodily through the flames out of the window. Her night dress caught on fire. With great presence of mind she extinguished the flames with her hands and lost assistance to her husband in saving the lives of their two small children. The fire had gained additional headway. He was unable to put the children out of the same window. He then kicked on the wall to arouse the people on the second floor. Catching the babies in his arms he ran up stairs and jumped with them from a second story window.

The second floor of 733 was occupied by the Durkin and Murphy families. No member of either of these families escaped. The firemen in searching the ruins of the houses, came upon the most harrowing scenes. Some were lying in the half-burned beds, others who awoke before death came upon them were cowering about in groups on the floor. They were all evidently overcome by the smoke before any effort could be made to escape.

The upper floor was occupied by William Hand, Jr. His father lived with him. The fire was started by the smoke. The young man caught up the children and jumped from the second story window with them. He was unable to save his father, but the old gentleman was seen at the window a moment and then disappeared, just as he was about to leap. The raging fire prevented the escape of either of these families. The lower floor of 731 was occupied by a man named McGuire, who kept a grocery store. All his family were saved. The buildings were owned by the Raleigh, Sr. and Bayne, a blacksmith. They were valued at $1,000. The loss was about $500 on each. All of the furniture in the buildings was destroyed.

The fire was the work of a determined and persistent incendiary. Upon retiring John Raleigh, Jr. locked the door. It was found by the watchmen that the door was closed. The fire was first seen by a watchman in a brewery near by. He started over to alarm the occupants. When in the rear of the burned houses he saw a man who saw "There's a fire. You had better turn in an alarm." The man disappeared up the alley. The watchmen, who were in the building, should see him again. This is the third time the place has been set afire. No serious damage resulted from the former attempts.

BOLTS AND NUTS.

The Pennsylvania Works at Lebanon Destroyed by Fire.

LEBANON, Pa., June 8.—The Pennsylvania bolt and nut works, which consisted of a number of large buildings covering a large area, were destroyed by fire. The main building was a three-story structure, containing valuable machinery. The watchman, who was temporarily absent, returned to find the main building in flames. He at once telephoned the two engine companies of the place had responded, the flames had spread over almost the entire works.

It was evident that nothing could be done except to save the surrounding dwellings and the works were left to their destruction. Nothing was saved from the burning buildings but a few of the bolts of the firm. There was some difficulty with the hands a week ago, and as the origin of the fire is a mystery, incendiarism is suspected. The watchman, James Sprain, James Arnold and William G. Wolf, were badly injured by a falling wall. The loss will reach over $300,000, which is partially covered by insurance. The works were owned and operated by Reading and Lebanon capitalists, and will be rebuilt at once. A special train brought the Reading managers of the firm here.

Died of His Wounds.

TUSCULUM, Ky., June 8.—Benjamin Munson, who was shot near Hinesboro, by George D. Scott, of this city, died of his wounds. The coroner is holding an inquest, the result of which has not been reached.

A HANSOM RAPIST.

A Related Lady Assaulted by a Chicago Cab Driver—Imprisoned.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Ada, the wife of H. C. Burbank, living at No. 439 Wabash avenue, and employed by the Chicago & North Western C. H. Lithgow on the open board of trade, was returning home from the North side, where she had been visiting friends, at 1 o'clock last night, the morning. Being unable to catch a car at that hour, she started to walk down Wabash street. She had not gone far when William Snell, a hansom driver, drove up and asked her if she wanted a cab. She replied that she could not pay him until she reached home and awakened her husband. He told her it was all right, and she entered the cab.

When he had reached a point between Congress and Harrison streets, he stopped, entered the cab himself and assaulted Mrs. Burbank. She screamed and a struggle ensued, during which she managed to break the window with her parasol. Being unsuccessful, he jumped upon the cab and drove away on a run. When the cab reached the corner of Folk street and Third avenue, a police officer heard her screams, stopped the cab, and brought Snell and Mrs. Burbank into the armory.

Snell wanted to go home, but was prevented from breaking the glass in the windows of his hansom. It was some time before the sobbing, frightened woman could tell the story of the outrage. When she did so, Snell said he was willing to let the whole matter drop.

"Just let the whole thing go," he said.

But just as he was about to leave, he was seized by the Lieutenant. Snell was booked with "attempting to commit rape."

Mrs. Burbank is a pretty, well-dressed woman of about twenty-two years of age. She was terribly shocked by the assault and there was an ugly abrasion on one of her wrists and Mrs. Snell claimed that she was in pain. She showed several scratches. Snell was held without bail.

FRIENDSHIP SOCIETIES.

Early, Bohemian Brothers, Rolling with Bad Bug-Jones, Commit Assassins.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Shortly after 1 o'clock last night, a party of five men, known as the Bohemian Socialist, who had attended a picnic at Adams' Woods park, crowded into Woodside depot of the Long Island railroad to take the train to Long Island City. They were very noisy and boisterous, and wanted to fight. Ex-Alderman Murray of Long Island City, who was in the depot, and without any provocation, five of the Bohemian Socialist men with slungshots, and beat him about the head until he was insensible. Employees of the railroad, who were on duty, tried to get the men out of the depot, but the fight became general. A dozen or more of the Socialists were badly cut. Detective Maloney and Foley, of the railroad, arrested four of the principals, who were taken to the Long Island City station.

Dr. Nelson sewed up six large wounds in Adams' Woods park. The most serious lacerations were found on the prisoners.

A Death Mystery.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Several detectives are said to be working upon the case of Frank R. Reed, the Yale divinity student whose body was recovered from the river some time ago with a bullet hole in the left temple. At first it was thought that he committed suicide, but it is now thought that he was murdered. The police are now working on the case. Reed was a student of Yale divinity school, and was found floating in the river. The body was recovered from the river some time ago with a bullet hole in the left temple. At first it was thought that he committed suicide, but it is now thought that he was murdered. The police are now working on the case.

Circus Man Killed.

EVANVILLE, Ind., June 8.—As Barnum's show train was pulling out at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, one of the showmen, Robert B. Kilday, of Chicago, fell between the cars and was killed. He was on top of the train following a brakeman, and it is supposed that when passing over a bridge, he mistook it for a trestle. He was dragged two blocks. The train was stopped and the remains were taken to a undertaker's for burial. The body was closed in a casket and taken to Chicago last evening. He has a wife in Chicago. She was telegraphed to yesterday morning. She was to get the best of her husband at Terre Haute Tuesday morning.

Highwaymen.

VICTORIA, B. C., June 8.—A telegram from the mainland says that a down stage of the British Columbia, Vancouver company was stopped on the Cariboo road by highwaymen who fired shots from a revolver and Winchester rifles over the driver's head. QUESTIONS OF PRIVILEGE.

REGARDING SLANDERS OF THE ILLUSTRIOUS DEAD.

Some Rise in Personal Privileges and Make Pretty Apologies for Misguided Wrongdoing, and Indulging in Slings and Arrows—Fish Day at Deer Park.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Mr. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, rising to a question of privilege, cited the rule under which the house meets Friday nights for consideration of pension bills. He found in the record of yesterday a speech filling twenty-five columns, delivered by Mr. Wheeler, on Edwin M. Stanton, when avowedly there was no pension business before the house.

The session, which had been set apart for specific purposes, were thus perverted to base ends—the slander of the illustrious dead who died from devoted services to their country. Mr. Herbert, of Alabama, said that Mr. Wheeler was absent now, and thought it would be proper for Mr. Kelley to wait until his colleague should be present.

Mr. Kelley expressed his consent, and entered a motion to expunge the speech from the record, said that he would call that motion up to-morrow.

Mr. Henderson, of Iowa, also rose to a question of privilege and stated that in the report of the Wheeler speech, a remark made by himself had been misplaced, but he also would wait until to-morrow.

Mr. Crisp, of Georgia, rising to a personal privilege, said that on Saturday during debate in the house he had been betrayed into expressions regarding Mr. Holman, of Indiana, for which he was expressing his regrets on the subject and his knowledge of no other way to do so than to give public expression of his regard for Mr. Holman, and what his own feelings were on the subject.

Mr. Holman also expressed a regret which he might have used, an expression which could be considered unjust, for Mr. Crisp or unjust to the house.

Fish Day at Deer Park.

DEER PARK, June 8.—To-day is fishing day at Deer Park. The presidential party started for deep creek shortly after breakfast, which was partaken of at an early hour, and will spend the day out fishing. The probability now are that the party will leave for Washington some time Wednesday. No definite arrangements to that end has yet been made, but the advisability of it is being seriously considered. Should it be decided to leave here on Wednesday, Col. and Mrs. Lamont will probably remain over and return with the bride and groom.

Mr. Manning.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Mr. Thomas J. Brennan, Secretary Manning's private secretary, received a telegram to-day, stating that the secretary here the journey to Hot Springs remarkably well, and suffered no fatigue from the trip which included a hard ride of twenty miles after leaving the train, and that his health continues to improve.

Daves' Circulation Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Senator Daves introduced a bill in the senate providing that there shall be in circulation not less than $20,000,000 in one dollar notes, and $30,000,000 at all times in notes of the denomination of two dollars for the better circulation of currency money.

Oleomargarine.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—By a vote of 22 to 21, the oleomargarine bill passed by the house last week, was referred to the Senate. The committee on agriculture. The opposition to the measure concentrated in a movement for its reference to the committee on finance.

New Synonyms.

BOSTON, June 8.—A Washington special to the Herald says: "Rev. Byron Sunderland says he left the word 'bye' out of the president's wedding service purposely. He says he thinks the word is 'good-bye' and not 'bye'."

"HELL ON EARTH."

Mrs. Louise Taylor, Tires of It and Committed Suicide.

PERUVILLE, Md., June 8.—Mrs. Louis Taylor, a young married woman, committed suicide, swallowing strychnine and laudanum at the home of her father-in-law, Charles Taylor. She had been on a visit to her sister at Phoenixville and at Northeast, purchased the poison. She stated that she intended to kill herself as her husband did not provide for her and her life was a hell on earth.

After swallowing the strychnine she told her father what she had done and that she had also given her five-year-old daughter a large portion of the poison. The dose to the child proved an emetic and thus its life was saved. A physician was sent for by Mrs. Taylor refused to take an antidote, declaring she wished to die, and taking from her pocket a phial, swallowed a half ounce of laudanum. She died this morning. Mrs. Taylor was twenty-two years old.

Louisville Blast.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 8.—The Dan block was blown up by the New Grand theatre. Brinkworth's restaurant, the Kentucky Club of Medicine, Dennison's fruit store, and several small shops and offices. The theatre was leased by Chief of Police Whalen and brother, and was formerly the Buckingham. It was one of the finest of coal recently, the reading company finds itself unable to fill its orders. The Leigh Valley Navigation company, which has a large amount of mail supply in face of a strong demand. Over production, it is believed, is not likely to occur in the coal regions again for some time.

French Railway Officials.

NIAGARA FALLS, June 8.—A party of French railway officials and the traffic manager of a French line of steamers, arrived here last evening on a special train over the New York Central & Hudson River railroad. They leave for Chicago in the evening on a special train over the Michigan Central railroad. The visitors are investigating the workings of American railways, and are the guests of the New York Central and Michigan Central Railroad companies. They are much pleased with the courtesies shown them with what they have witnessed.

A CRANK SOCIALIST.

A Hip-Booting, Red-Hot, Howling Anarchist Who Wants "His Share."

CHICAGO, June 8.—John A. Henry, the notorious crank Socialist, Anarchist, etc., is looked up by the Chicago police. Yesterday afternoon he boarded an incoming train at the Northwestern station, and picking up a cap and punch which the conductor had just laid aside, he donned the cap and punch in hand he called out, "This way for Right, Lockport and Freeport." Some of the officials wanted him to wait to be dealt with by such conduct. He shouted the reply: "It's none of your business. I am a Socialist and Anarchist. I have as much right to this cap and punch as any one else. I am a Communist and own my share of the world and have a right to it. You can't arrest me."

He was promptly arrested.

He was very noisy when he reached the station and kept it up throughout last night. At times he seemed to be a raving maniac. There is no doubt about his being a crank, his brain being turned through absorbing study of the delusive theories of Socialism. Whether the action of the police was the result of a complete breaking down of his mind or it was merely a cunning scheme upon his part to convey the impression that he really is insane and irresponsible for his action in connection with the Anarchists, is uncertain.

The brutal bravado of the Anarchists generally has been broken by the indictment and almost absolutely certain conviction of all of their leaders for murder, conspiracy and riot. The charge against Henry is for sedition, but although an inquest as to his insanity will now probably be made.

ENGLISH POLITICS.

Preparing for the Elections—Pendleton Meets His Daughter—Foreign News.

LONDON, June 8.—In anticipation of the certain defeat of the Liberal Unionists at a second reading of the Home Rule bill, and the equally certain dissolution of parliament which will follow, great preparations are being made for the coming election. The work of finishing up details, preliminary to an appeal to the country, is being hastened. The Conservatives are largely yielding places to Liberal-Unionist candidates.

Protest of the Prince.

MINE TROUBLES.

Thirty Armed Detectives Go to the Raymond City Coal Mines.

POINT, W. Va., June 8.—Detective Hagen and thirty armed men arrived here to-day by boat, on their way to the Raymond City coal mines, situated thirty miles away. The mines are now closed, and the miners will be re-enforced by others on their arrival at the mines. An attempt will be made to force the miners to work, and the miners which has now lasted more than eleven months.

Marmet & Co. have tried to arbitrate the matter several times, but to arbitration has been decided upon and they have finally determined to try what force will accomplish. There are 300 men employed in the mine and many of them are willing to resume work, but are prevented by others who say that they will sell their lives before the others shall go to work. The miners are among the most valuable in Virginia.

An Albany Rumor.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 8.—It seems to be well understood by Secretary Manning's friends in Albany that he will have no further connection with the case of Gladstone after the first of next October, and that he will then return to Albany and resume the presidency of the Commercial bank, which he left when he went to Washington. The office has remained vacant ever since he resigned it on taking the treasury portfolio.

Cottley Explosion.

WILKESBARRE, June 8.—An explosion of gas occurred in the Mineral Spring colliery, operated by the Leigh Valley Coal company this morning. As the miners entered the mine they were notified that the fire boss that all was safe. Death of Well Known Printer.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 8.—William J. Jones, a printer, well known throughout the country to members of the craft, died here last night.

TUESDAY, JUNE 8, 1886.

Hon. H. M. BUFORD received the nomination for Common Pleas Judge in the Lexington district, at the Democratic primary last Saturday. His majority was about 3,000.

THE Grayson Tribune is the latest addition to our exchange list. It is published by the Tribune Company of that place, is edited by W. J. Rardin, of the Greenup Gazette, and is Republican-red-hot politically speaking.

CAPTAIN J. J. McAFEE, of Louisville, says Kentucky is "the brightest jewel in the diadem of the Republic. Her sister States are nothing but periwinkles on the beach of time, while Kentucky is the conch shell which gives back the echoes to the sounding sea."

MAJOR HENRY T. STANTON is devoting his time to writing novels, since the Frankfort Yeoman went out of existence. His first effort, "The Kents," will soon appear in Frank Leslie's Weekly, and is to be followed, says the Paducah News, by another serial which will be devoted largely to life in Kentucky.

The Democrats of Bourbon, Bath, Madison and Montgomery Counties have gotten in to a big squabble over the recent primary election to nominate a candidate for Common Pleas Judge. Charges of fraud are heard from the friends of both candidates, Scott and Hazelrigg. A committee will investigate the charges and report on the 11th instant. A dispatch says "Hazelrigg will run as the nominee, and will win the race."

This prospect for a large crop of tobacco in Ohio county, this State are not flattering. But is this thing to be regretted? The Hartford Herald thinks not, and says "a small crop of good quality will command better prices, and result in enabling our farmers to put a larger amount of money in circulation, besides, the small tobacco crop will give more time to devote to other essential and equally profitable farm work; a small, high-priced tobacco crop is always best."

A Mean Spirit.

All admit that the Mayville and Big Sandy Railroad will prove of great advantage to this county. If the county is to receive the benefits, why should the guarantors pay the $50,000 subscription? It is a mean spirit to want them to do it. That sum will have to be paid, and where all are to be benefited, all should share the burden, which, in this case, will prove but a small matter if divided out among all the tax-payers.

More Favorable.

It was reported last week that the farmers on Lawrence Creek were opposed to the railroad proposition, but in a conversation with one of them this morning, he stated that the sentiment in his neighborhood had changed in the past few days, and that the proposition would receive a good vote in his vicinity. He added: "We all know the railroad will prove a big thing for the county, and we don't think the guarantors ought to pay the $50,000 out of their pockets. In this opinion they are correct. The county will receive the lion's share of the benefits, and should pay the subscription. It's a small sum, and will not make our taxes any higher than they are now."

Our Next Congressman.

A Washington special to the Louisville Post, of the 3rd instant, gives the following: "Congressman Robertson was asked this morning how he found the different districts on his recent visit in Kentucky. I didn't get much beyond my own district, said he, but as Secretary of the Congressional Campaign Committee some information came in my way. It appears to me that nearly all the present members from Kentucky will be back in the Fifty-third Congress. To begin with myself, if there are no new developments before the nominating convention meets, I think I will be nominated without opposition. The talk about opposition to Breckinridge has no foundation. He will get the nomination with greater ease than any man in the delegation. Halle's chances seem to grow brighter as the time for nominations draws near, though there are many bright and popular young Democrats there who are working hard to get his place. I know little of the outlook in Stone's district, but there is a great deal of doubt expressed about his ability to get the nomination. Mr. Willis will be renominated and re-elected without a doubt. Mr. Carlisle ditto. Mr. McCrory is away ahead of all the rivals in the Elbert district. Mr. Tanbree can get back if he works hard, and a strong effort will be made in the Eleventh to get Wolford's consent for renomination, as the district would be extremely doubtful with any other Democrat on the ticket. Wadsworth will stay at home whether he is renominated or not. All these predictions are, of course, founded on gossip that reached me rather than direct information. Still, I think you will find them to be substantially true."

TYPOGRAPHICAL TIDINGS.

THE INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION IN PITTSBURG.

A Resolution on the Foran Bill for the Establishment of a Wage-System. The Typo will Set a Few Sticks of Pliers—The Amalgamated Committee Busy at Work.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 8.—One hundred and eighteen delegates responded to the roll call of their names at the opening session of the International Typographical Union convention which began in Lafayette hall at 10 o'clock this morning. After an organization had been perfected, President H. I. Gourley, of the select council, welcomed the delegates to the city, to which President Witter responded.

A resolution was unanimously adopted urging upon congress the early passage of house bill No. 7,476, known as the Foran bill, which provides for the restoration of the wages of employees in the government printing office at Washington, to the rates paid prior to reducing the same. The convention then adjourned until 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The printers intend to set up several sticks of pleasure this afternoon at a picnic at McKees Rocks, near the city. The pleasant weather promises a brilliant affair. The proposition looking to a close union with the Knights of Labor is not meeting with the favorable consideration among the delegates that had been expected.

The Amalgamated convention is not in session to-day. The committee, however, are all busily engaged. The wage committee have their work well under way, and will hold a session to-night, if necessary, to enable them to complete their report for to-morrow's session.

PRISON CONFIRMATIONS.

One Hundred and Seventeen Convicts Signed With the Cross.

JOLIET, Ill., June 8.—The chapel of Joliet penitentiary was the scene of a most interesting event. It was conferring with the rites of confirmation of 177 convicts by Archbishop Feudun, of Chicago. The chapel was decorated with flowers for the occasion, and each convict was presented with a bunch of white flowers to pin upon his breast. At 9 o'clock the archbishop began the confirmation, assisted by the Rev. Fathers Dunn and Burke of this city and a number of Franciscan monks.

As the convicts advanced to the altar each man handed the archbishop a slip of paper upon which was his name. Pronouncing the name the archbishop dipped his finger in a chalice of oil and making a cross on the forehead of the kneeling man, said: "I sign thee with the sign of the cross and confirm thee in the Christian faith in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and the Holy Ghost."

The convict orchestra rendered some excellent music during the occasion. Among those confirmed were some of the worst criminals in the west.

No Bucket Shops in Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 8.—The bucket shop of S. Floyd Cox and son at Hot Springs, have been closed up by a ruling of the state supreme court on an appeal of a suit brought against Floyd by the Pulaski county auditor, Judge Vaughn. The decision of the circuit court, decided that the running of a bucket shop in Arkansas was a misdemeanor, and fined the defendants, Floyd's manager, $100 and ordered that the premises be vacated. Floyd thereupon appealed to the supreme court, where the ruling of the lower court was affirmed.

Captain Murdoch's Mistake.

DENVER, Colo., June 8.—A special from Grand Junction says: "Capt. Murdoch, of the Sixth infantry, was drowned in the Grand river. The captain and a detachment of soldiers were going to the Blue Mountain country to establish a post, and while endeavoring to cross on the cable bridge, Capt. Murdoch expected the boat to go on the rocks in the canyon, clung to the wire cable and was drowned. The soldiers on the boat succeeded in landing safely on the opposite side without further loss of life."

Unfounded Cattle Reports.

BIG SPARKS, Tex., June 8.—The report that cattle are dying from thirst and starvation at the rate of 900 head daily along the line of the Texas Pacific road, and that ruin stares the cattle owners in the face, is untrue. The country where the mortality is said to have occurred is generally dry until the middle of June. There is, however, an abundance of nutritious dry grass, and although the region is poor, there is no drought has occurred during the rainy season, no drought has occurred.

One Killed and Nine Injured.

TOBY, N. Y., June 8.—By the explosion of a boiler at the Remondier mill, one of the establishments of the Troy iron and steel works, one man was killed, nine injured. The explosion occurred about 7:30 o'clock. Michael Dunwoody was instantly killed, Patrick Gaylor severely injured and cannot recover. The names of the others who will probably recover are Peter's applicant, Thomas Welch, Daniel Conway, Thomas Galligan, W. L. Riley, Edward Powers, John Murray and Edward Palmer. The mill had been idle two years and had just resumed operations beginning on Thursday last.

Texas Democracy.

AUSTIN, Tex., June 8.—The Democratic primaries were held in this county on Saturday. A large vote was polled and the indications on Saturday pointed to a solid defeat for Travis county for T. T. Breckinridge for governor. The legislative nominees are pledged to support Judge Alexander W. Terrell for United States senator to succeed Maxey.

Killed by Death.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 8.—James Benson, colored, a clerk at a restaurant at Coney Island, was killed and beaten to death by two men last night, near West Brighton. A white man named Stephen Germain was arrested this morning, charged with being one of the murderers.

Mr. Arthur.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Ex-President Arthur was at his usual place at 8 o'clock in the morning, and ate with a good appetite his breakfast. If this afternoon he fine he will take a ride in the park.

Steamer Ashore.

HALIFAX, June 8.—The steamer Gertrude, of Sunderland, ran ashore, Friday night, at Cape Pine, N. J., and will probably become a total wreck.

RIDING A "BUCKSKIN."

TAKING THE CONCEIT OUT OF AN AMBITIOUS "TENDERFOOT."

Trials of a College Student in Wyoming—A Target for Sportive Cowboys—A Bit of Experience as an Equestrian—A Standing Joke.

The most popular specimen of tenderfoot is the younger whose father sends him out to the range to spend a college vacation or break-extraneous habits. These "New York dudes," as they are indifferently called, are always about the stock-cowboys, friends, and they are prone, especially if fresh from college, to think very contemptuously of an illiterate puncher. If they let such a sentiment manifest itself, the puncher promptly displays his sense of equality, if not, indeed, of superiority, and is quite ready to try conclusions on the spot.

He dearly loves to give a connoisseur youth, and does it very thoroughly when he sets about it. "So you're from college, are you, Johnnie? We had a college boy in the 'Two Bar G' range. Told us his old man was going to give him a big herd of his own, and gave every ready in the outfit a song and dance about hiring him for a boss. When the round-up was camped near town he borrowed one buck's $300 spurs and another buck's $100 horse, because he wanted to look like a boss taken with a pony. Then he went back to college. You're pretty lean, ain't you, Johnnie? I reckon it ain't polite to call you Johnnie. Let's call him Fatty—he'll fill up to it when he gets some old per-slick bacon and beans in him. Can you ride, Fatty?"

TAKING OUT THE YOUTH'S CONCEIT. Perhaps the bony youth rather fancied himself as a horseman and says: "I have been riding ever since I was ten years old. I have tried my saddle yet, and I never rode anything but an English tree. But I was out with the lancers at Newport last season and did pretty well. I guess I can ride these little ponies anyhow. You talk about their bucking and all that, but I don't believe they are as hard to sit as a wicked three-quarter horse."

"As we ain't got any three-quarter horses, but we got some whole little ponies that ain't dived out of the saddle, and we want to clean out the strays in the bull pasture this morning, and that'll be a chance for you, Jim, you let Fatty ride that gut-chewer buckskin of the ponies in the pasture. The horse won't mind, and Fatty ought to have a good horse to begin with. He's a little mean to saddle, Fatty, and he's full of stiff-neckedness, but he's got some like as if he was pitching, but he's lightning after now."

When they got down to the corral some one thoughtly rope the buckskin, and landing him over to Fatty, tells the latter to saddle up. The confusion of straps and the absence of the buckskin in the corral, and the youth to see the fun, help him to saddle the buckskin kicking and plunging all the while. When everything is in order Fatty prepares to mount. Just then the buckskin turns and falls backward. As he picks himself up again and stands lowering at Fatty, some one says: "If he goes to do that again, you get on him, tell him you're from college and he won't fall on you, young feller."

This time Fatty gets his hands on the horn of the saddle, and just as he is going to swing himself up the buckskin whirls and kicks his hat off. A kindly horse is expressed that his head on loose, so that if the buckskin hits that of next time it won't wrench, and then the boss tells Fatty to hold the checkle of the bridle with his left hand until his leg is over the saddle, to prevent the buckskin from going round again. He succeeds in mounting, and the prophecy that he will get off easier than he got on is no longer a prophecy, it is fulfilled. Some one catches the buckskin and the tenderfoot eagerly explains that he was not fairly seated before the tenderfoot began.

WAYS OF THE TRICKY "BUCKSKIN." "Well hold him for you, Fatty," and two stalwart waddies hold the buckskin by the ears until Fatty has screwed himself down in the saddle and clamped his teeth.

The buckskin waits a moment of peaceably, and Fatty tries to feel at home in the round-seated saddle, longing for the knee-pads of the familiar English pikekin. He touches the buckskin with the spur to wake him up, and finds himself shot up in the air. He comes down on the horn of the saddle. Next trip he lands on the buckskin's neck. The third ascension leaves him in the mud of the corral, with a corner kicked off his ear and every bone of his body jarred. He looks dazed, and the boss says:

"You rode him first-rate, you didn't steer him well. You want to steer him so he is under you all the while."

"Was he pitching them?" asks the tenderfoot, ruefully.

"No, he was not pitching. You want to get used to the motion, that's all. Hold his head up and he can't pitch."

Fatty makes another effort, and when the buckskin can't get his head down, he rears.

His rider recollects the back fall he saw him make, and throws himself out of the saddle, but the buckskin does not fall back, and Fatty feels pretty cheap.

"Did you get off to look for the piece you lost out of your ear?"

"No, he got down to wash his hands. He ain't no dirty slouch like you."

"Say, Fatty, you're too wish he wasn't such a little pony! You'd have had lots more fun then. Trouble is you've too near the ground all the while. Show him how it's done, Jim."

Jim rolls into the middle, and while the buckskin is in the air he knows how to come down and plunks up a handful of dirt, which he throws in the bronco's face. Fatty puts his hands on his hips and looks at the "gentle horse." "How Fatty rode the little pony" will be a standing joke for a week.—Cheyenne Cor. San Francisco Chronicle.

LANCASTER, Pa., June 8.—Rev. John Willamson Nevins, D.D., LL.D., died at his home in Germantown place, Lancaster, at the age of eighty-three. He was president of the Franklin and Marshall college from 1868 to 1878. Among Dr. Nevins' children are the Rev. L. A. Nevins, rector of the American Episcopal church in Rome, and Miss Blanche Nevins, the sculptress.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 8.—A letter received here states that the sale of the Southern express company at Mammoth Springs, Ark., was blown open and robbed of its contents on the night of the 5th. The company's stock is small, and the loss was not great, but the robbery was a serious blow to the company.
